A Peer reviewed article is one which has been reviewed by an editor and at least one other subject specialist before it is published. This ensures the article is accurate and provides current industry information.

RI libraries subscribe to several electronic resources (e-resources) which allow searching for peer reviewed articles.

Staff and students need their user name and password to access these resources.

Log in to the Riverina Institute e-resources using your DET user name and password.

Alternatively, you may be asked to login through Equella, using the same user name and password.
Choose the e-resource you would like to search

Enter your search terms, then press enter

When results display on the screen, tick the peer-reviewed box on the left hand side of the screen, and press enter. This will eliminate all articles that have not been peer reviewed

Choose article(s) from this list
